SomeIts Rock Undercover is a racing game by Electronic Arts for iOS devices and Android devices with a multiplayer-over-wifi that supports up to 20 players. However, the game features an offline single-player mode too, making it an all-around multiplayer game for both iOS and Android devices. Gameplay Undercover is a racing game played from third-person perspective in a side-scrolling scrolling game format. It is similar to the Need for Speed games, featuring various types of race-cars, such as Muscle Cars, Muscle Cars, Muscle SUV, and Muscle SUV. The races are either Event-Driving or Compete-Driving. The goal of the player is to finish the race in a time within one second of the leader, using stamina and nitro boost when appropriate. If the player finishes the race, the player will win and unlock new cars. Before each race, the player can select the race-car. Each car has its own characteristics that vary between each car. Some cars are faster, others are heavier, and some are smaller. When the player selects their car, the driver will take a photo of the car and add it to the car record. Players can also have the opportunity to win more of the vehicle's equipment that can include weapons. There are a number of other game elements including a number of different multiplayer modes, such as: Speed Driving, Capture the Flag, Round-Up, Team Deathmatch, Capture the Bait, Free For All, Need for Speed Undercover, and Multiplayer Events, such as Zora, Hawaiian Paradise (Aqua World), and even trying to beat the biggest bonus vehicle in Undercover.
