He and his few friends are captured by a notorious outlaw, but escape from the village and run into a cave on the cliff. They believe they are safe from the outlaw. At the entrance to the cave, they see a young woman trapped. The outlaw enters the cave to take the woman and leaves behind a key. The boys take the key and look for the woman in the cave. They also find a massive statue of the god Drona. They believe the woman must have been one of the temple dancers and that they found the key to the temple. They help the woman escape, but they find her to be a goddess. The boys take her with them to find the key. The outlaw returns and kills everyone but one of the boys. He escapes but they see him as he is on the road, having killed the survivor. They tell their story to the survivors and 2d92ce491b
