Now you can quickly and easily access the assemblies that should be loaded before the application starts. 1. Expand the application icon in the system tray or Start menu. 2. Click on the application name to open it. 3. Select the icon of the assembly that you want to load. Tip You can use the display options in the main window to control the execution of the selected assemblies. Selecting the display options would have the application stay open. To close the application right-click the main window and choose Exit. Run the assembly in some thread: Run the assembly in one thread for a short period of time. You can start the applications with the RunInOneThread option. Running in the background You can run the application in the background. To run in the background, specify the "ProgramArguments" parameter as follows: Startup="& '-b' " For example: Run-in-one-thread.exe -b "sqlservresv.dll" This is especially useful to invoke the service application. Antivirus Signature Updates: Important note: The application makes use of the SignatureUpdate service and on some systems, antivirus may cause the service to stop working correctly or the process to fail. To prevent this problem, you may want to temporarily disable your antivirus protection until the application is started. Antivirus may also cause an error dialog to appear. To resolve this issue, first make sure that the "AllowExecution from Offered User" checkbox is not checked. Furthermore, if you are using a virus scanner, make sure that the scanner is not blocking any of the file system-related events that the application uses. Change of the registry key System is required for some antivirus software to work properly. User-defined updates are the most common for this. The application updates the "AutoUpdate.Properties" file every time to let antivirus software to know to update their own files. If the user wants to update the antivirus software, the "Update.Properties" file should be modified to point to the new file locations. Version 3.0 Added the support of 32-bit and 64-bit plugins. Fixed the bugs in the locking. Added the AV detection.

Version 2.9 Added the support of 32-bit and 64-bit plugins. Fixed the bugs in the locking. Version 2.0 09e8f5149f

This theme makes it easy to tell your friends, clients, and family about Australia's open spaces, abundance of wildlife and beautiful vistas. Australia is the most populous country in Oceania and comprises the largest area of the whole Pacific Basin. It is bounded by the Timor Sea, the Coral Sea and the Indian Ocean, and has a total area of about 7,510,300 km², of which about 2,130,600 km² is land, and the remainder is water. Major cities include Sydney, Brisbane, Melbourne, Perth, Adelaide and Auckland. The capital of Australia is Canberra, and the largest by area is the National Capital Territory of Australia. Victoria is the most populous state, with 25,540,000 people, or 38% of the total Australian population, and New South Wales the least populous with 2,980,000. The most common form of government in Australia is a constitutional monarchy with Elizabeth II as head of state and Elizabeth II as Queen of Australia. Each Australian state and territory has its own legislative assembly, or parliament. The national parliament, the Federal Parliament, is bicameral, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives. The Australian economy is the eighth-largest in the world by nominal GDP, and the 11th-largest by GDP (PPP), the sixth-largest in the world by nominal GDP and the third-largest in the world by GDP (PPP). According to the 2015 International Monetary Fund (IMF) World Economic Outlook Australia is ranked 8th in total spending power, behind the USA, Japan, China, Germany, France, Italy, United Kingdom and Mexico. It is a developed country and has been ranked high in the Human Development Index. Australia has been a member of the United Nations since 27 May 1951 and was granted UNSC membership on 22 January 1986. Australia has also been a founding member of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) forum. The main island of Australia, the continent of Australia and the Great Barrier Reef make up the state of Queensland. Australia ranks 17th globally for levels of income equality. The Australian flag is a blue ensign defaced with a golden wattle and the Southern Cross. The wattle, introduced in 1861, is said to represent the call of the Australian emu bird and the Southern Cross, a constellation which is visible in the south from mid-spring to late autumn.
