The collection includes the most famous applications. You can display your content in unusual ways, displaying every icon from the collection. The icons are ready to be used for the theme of the application window of the desktop from the folder or use in additional applications such as the desktop toolbar. The collection contains 256x256.png icons, which can be used in the themes you have created. This collection works without exception. How to use the icons in themes: Icons are very easy to use in themes. Create a new folder in the extension of the theme, or use a folder where you want. Open the folder in which you want to create the icons. Go to your browser and open the site Icons4Sites. In the search bar put four or more characters of your theme and click search. You'll get to the page from which you'll be redirected to the icon you want. Put the entire path of the icon you want to put in your.THM file. You need to get your mouse to the item on the page that you want to use as an icon. When you click the item on the page, you can drag the icon you wanted from the page to your desktop. You can not get the icons to your themes in the usual way. Put the icon in a new folder you created, or use a folder that you already have. Put the path of the icon you want to put in the code of your theme. Start designing your themes with a free theme maker. The colors will match perfectly. You just need to put the path of your icon in the right place. It is not difficult to use the icons. You simply paste the icon you want in your desktop or theme. And once installed and configured the product never stops updating the database, which makes it very efficient. Anti-Virus programs are indispensable for the protection of your computer. When we think about it, we know what really matters in the computer, and what for it has a good protection. We also know that this protection is mandatory to prevent all sorts of attacks and threats. And do not think about it, it is a fact, a virus can transform a PC in a useless one, because we do not recognize its presence in your system. And what happens when a virus is introduced into the system? Of course, a lot of damage, we feel it, after all, it is a virus that has stolen our data and we do not even suspect it. What's more, let's be honest, the first thing that we do when we have installed a virus in the computer is remove it. That is, we delete it. We then move forward to clean the system, but this is not always enough. We are wrong to think that we will not get another virus because we have removed the first. That is, it is you who release a virus in your system, many others have to be installed. They enter by opening a file or opening a web page. This virus is protected by the antivirus software, but the way these programs work does not facilitate the process in which the antivirus program finds the virus. Of course, that's not what it should be like. Because the problem in antivirus programs is that they have to be very large to catch all the threats. Then they have to be updated regularly, and for that they have to be updated, which increases the possibility of problems. One thing that we want to do is to have the best antivirus software that we can find. We wish it was possible for us to have less, but more effective protection, because the problem is that if you are not careful, you can install a virus and it will remain in your system for a long time without you noticing it. And if you do not have a minimum of protection, sooner or
