We have investigated the influence of a cytokine microenvironment on Th1 differentiation. In the presence of rIL-12, rIL-2, and neutralizing antibodies against IFN-gamma, naive CD4 T cells were stimulated with different APCs to generate Th1 and Th2 lineages. Cells were cultured in the presence or absence of rIL-4 and rTGF-beta. Analysis of Th1 and Th2 differentiation showed that rIL-4 and rTGF-beta were differentially required for IL-4 and IL-5 production by Th1 and Th2 lineages. At the same time, IL-2 was found to be necessary for the synthesis of the differentiation factor IL-5 in Th2 cells, but not in Th1 cells. Furthermore, neutralizing antibodies against IL-4 inhibited the expression of IL-5 in Th2 cells. In both Th1 and Th2 lineages rIL-4 and rTGF-beta induced the expression of the transcription factor E2A. Among the Th2-associated cytokines, rIL-13, which binds to the heterodimeric IL-4/IL-13R alpha 1, synergized with rIL-4/rTGF-beta to induce the
