The Atom x5 is Intel's newest processor to feature the architecture that consists of a dual-core 1.66GHz processor with the PowerVR SGX 540 graphics cores on a single die. The Atom x5 is built on the 45nm process technology. This means the chip is built on the same process as the recently launched Core i3 750, which features the 1.66GHz x5 processor. Intel's Atom processors (silver) Next release for the Atom SoC was in late 2009 when the Atom x5 was launched. The Atom x5 is expected to be launched in the third quarter of 2010. The chip features dual core, 1.66GHz Atom x5 processor. The architecture was developed by a team of engineers that were responsible for creating the architecture of the Atom processors, the latest processor by Intel architecture, called Clover Trail. The Atom x5 has two cores built on a single die and a PowerVR graphics processors named SGX 540. The SGX 540 is clocked at

624MHz and supports OpenGL ES 2.0. The Atom x5 is
