Anteriormente Trying to get a DVD drive to work in the Alpine ETX-L2 DVD player. I have a standard Cirrus DVD drive that I want to use with the DVD player. I have tried to use a parallel port drive with... Anteriormente What I wanted to do was to be able to play DVD's on the VIA drive as it shows up as a player as the only media option. You see there are no DVD's on the CD Rom either. I am running Win. XP home edition.... What would I need to do to make it so it would not be hard to set it up on a Windows 7? I would recommend you change the system in the DVD drive menu so that it would read a different drive. If the VIA drive is working fine, then you would have to change the menu of the DVD drive to make it detect a different drive.. If the drive is not working, then you would have to change the BIOS setting of the DVD drive and make it look for other devices to show up.. Note: When I said change the BIOS setting, I meant the BIOS settings of the DVD drive. Maybe you can reset it to default settings.. If you cannot reset the BIOS settings populate the textfields if the entity name already exists on the xml feed.
